

Dear members,

As Victoria emerges from lockdown it is wonderful to witness renewed joy and a deeper sense of gratitude for the often overlooked aspects of life.

Whether you spent your time getting insanely fit, working on yourself physically, mentally and spiritually it's now time to get back to dating at OnPlatinum. As hard as it is, try not to forecast too much into the future and as a general rule - be here now, try to view these new freedoms as your greatest opportunities to dive into the safe online dating community that we have established here.

Successfully navigating this brave new digital dating world takes a little extra effort and imagination and with a little practice and polish, it's absolutely possible to make deeply meaningful, valuable, lasting connections in our OnPlatinum community.

We have heard from many of you that you are keen to attend our Tables for 10 and we are excited to kick them off too.

Over the next 2 weeks we will be contacting members based on your requests and cross-matching to invite you to our dinners at various restaurants across Melbourne. We will be booking these dinners during weeknights to ensure availability in venues.

Once again, please email us to let us know if you would like to meet anyone specifically or even if you would simply like to attend for fun/social purposes and we will ensure that we include you in these invitations.

If you haven't already set up your profiles, now is the time to dive in and do it and if you need our help, we are here for you.

Looking forward to meeting you all in the near future.

Warm regards,

Jenny Marinis
